Veterans Day

Honoring All Who Served

PASTOR'S CORNER

Dear friends,

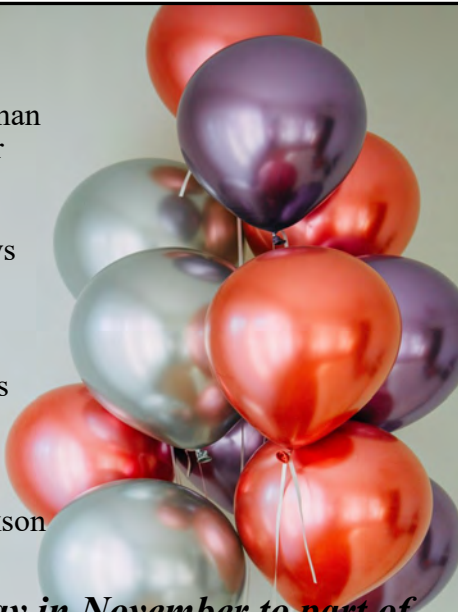

I hope that you got to see the video clip of Pastor Boris and me on our Facebook/Instagram account. We had a little surprise for him at the end of our conversation. Now that surprise would not have ever been possible if not for the committed and loving support that many of you provide each week or each month. We are so grateful for your generosity. It enables us to be generous with our blessings. On Sunday, we will be joined by a young couple who are making a difference in the lives of infants and toddlers! You won't want to miss this Breakthrough Moment.

During the month of November, the Board of Ministry is inviting us to reflect on our lives and the blessings that we have as we prepare to offer our gifts of time, talent and finances to support the ongoing ministry of New Covenant. Did you know that we need Worship Guides who can help those who join us for worship on Sundays. We are also in need of Sunday School teachers and Scripture Readers. There are so many ways that you can give! I hope that you will join us as we share our commitment of offerings on Sunday, November 28. As we did last year, our offering of commitment can be made online through our website.

We continue with the end of the liturgical year readings over the next two weeks. This Sunday's reading is Mark 13: 1-8. It is sometimes called "the little Apocalypse" which is a word of encouragement. However, there seems to be some warnings peppered in this reading, so it is not really an "apocalypse". So, what is it? Come and find out!
